FORCED LABOUR EDICT.

QUESTIONS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

LONDON, March 6.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Winston Churchill was heckled regarding the proclamations of the government of Hongkong.

Commander Kenworthy asked whether this policy of conscripting labour had the Government's approval.

Mr. Churchill replied that he should have thought, judging from Commander Kenworthy's views in other directions that the policy of conscription labour would have excited his enthusiasm for Hongkong as much as it did for Russia.

Commander Kenworthy later remarked that if Mr. Churchill approved the measure of forced labour would he send his apologies to Moscow.

Mr. Churchill thought that if any apologies had to be tendered to Moscow they might find a very suitable ambassador.

Replying to Colonel John Ward, Mr. Churchill said they would naturally leave it to the men on the spot to deal with an emergency but it in nowise abrogated the deciding functions of the Imperial Government. He added that any question of reducing the British troops in Hongkong to half a battalion would not be considered by the Government without full regard to existing conditions in Hongkong and the neighbourhood.

HOME POLITICS.

PREMIER'S POSITION.

LONDON, March 6.

There was considerable activity in political circles on Sunday evening. Mr. Lloyd George who returned in the afternoon from the country held a long conference with Lord Birkenhead and Mr. Winston Churchill. Subsequently Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Austen Chamberlain, Mr. Balfour, Marquess Curzon and others attended a dinner party at Lord Birkenhead's residence. The Premier discussed his position with the Conservative leaders who are continuing their efforts to persuade him to remain in office, but decision is still doubtful.

The Westminster Gazette says that there is a growing assumption that Mr. Lloyd George will resign and that the Coalition Liberal ministers will go with him, which will mean a number of embarrassing by-elections if the Conservatives took office.

CRISIS OVER?

This evening's reports are very conflicting on the subject of the political crisis which some declare is intensified and others settled. Reuter is informed that the crisis was terminated by the decision of the Prime Minister to continue in office in deference to an urgent appeal from his Unionist colleagues made to him at Lord Birkenhead's dinner party last night chiefly on account of the international position. The question of giving definite guarantees of the loyalty of the Unionist rank and file was temporarily waived, but the Unionist cabinet ministers assured Mr. Lloyd George of their anxiety to do the utmost to support the Coalition.

WIRELESS WONDER.

NEW EPOCH MARKED.

New York, March 6.

A new epoch in the development of wireless telephony was marked by a two-hour conversation through an ordinary telephone between New York and the steamer "America" 400 miles out at sea. The steamer was called up over the land wires from New York to a wireless station on the New Jersey coast whence the messages were automatically transmitted through a radiophone apparatus to the "America." From the steamer a newspaper representative telephoned to listening reporters in New York the story of the doings of the band of Americans on board who had served the foreign legion in Morocco. This story was published in all the morning newspapers.

PREMIER INDISPENDED.

LONDON, March 6.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain presided over the Cabinet to-day in the absence of Mr. Lloyd George, who is slightly indisposed.

LATER.

Mr. Lloyd George, whenever the doctors permit him to travel, will go to Wales on a long holiday and then return to town afterwards, proceeding to Genoa.

PACIFIC TREATY.

SENATE'S ATTITUDE.

FAR EASTERN PROBLEMS.

LONDON, March 6.

Washington advices show that the United States Administration's achievements in the field of foreign politics will be reviewed in the course of the Senate debate on the Pacific treaty which opens to-day.

The treaty is opposed by both irreconcilables and Democrats. The former, headed by Senator Borah, denounce the treaty as an alliance which is a departure from the traditional policy of the United States. The latter complain that the treaty stops short of that all-comprehending alliance called a league of nations which is the only safe form of international association.

The argument against the treaty which has hitherto had the greatest effect is based on the assumption that conditions in the Far East are steadily leading to another Russian and Japanese war in which Russia will seek to recover Saghalien, Eastern Siberia, and her outlets to the Pacific. The opinion is held that in such circumstances the treaty will necessitate a conference of the four powers and the question arises whether the United States will be diplomatically bound to take a favourable view of the Japanese case or whether it will be permissible to bring in Russia into the consultation.

The Administration's spokesmen in the course of the coming debate are expected to deal with this uncertainty and generally to clarify the treaty's implications.

LANSING-ISHII AGREEMENT.

WASHINGTON, March 6.

The Senate has adopted a resolution submitted by Senator Borah asking President Harding how the Lansing Ishii agreement is affected by ratification of the four-power pacific treaty. Senator Underwood prior to adoption of the resolution contended that the agreement would be wiped out by the series of conference treaties because a new arrangement had been substituted to define rights in the Pacific.

PEKING SYNDICATE SUED.

FRENCH BANKS ACTION.

PARIS, March 6.

The commerce tribunal heard an action by the Bank of France against the Peking Syndicate and the Societe Maritime du Pacifique with regard to payment of 12,500,000 francs bills drawn by the Societe Maritime in favour of the Peking Syndicate which had endorsed them and handed over them the Banque Industrielle de Chine. The bills were subsequently discounted by the Bank of France. The dispute is really between the Bank of France and the Peking Syndicate which endeavoured to free itself from the obligation contracted by its responsible director M. Andre Barthelot.

The Syndicate pleaded the transaction was null because notice had not been regularly delivered at its registered address in London through diplomatic channels.

The tribunal judgment declared that the Peking Syndicate was duly served with notice in view of the importance of its Paris branch and the position held by its responsible director, M. Andre Barthelot. The securities had not the apparent character of accommodation bills and the signature of M. Andre Barthelot validly pledged the Syndicate in terms provided in statutes and the Bank of France as regular third holder was entitled to exact payment.

AMERICAN NAVAL ECONOMY.

WASHINGTON, March 5.

Mr. Denby has ordered that 57 destroyers and nearly 60 auxiliary craft shall be placed out of commission in order to economize in fuel for which Congress has curtailed the appropriation. A hundred destroyers were placed out of commission last week leaving only 76 fully commissioned destroyers and 40 with heavily reduced complements.

IRISH REPUBLICAN CUP.

LIMERICK TOWN SEIZED.

LONDON, March 6.

Mr. Winston Churchill announced in the House of Commons that a large force of Republicans had seized Limerick town. The British Government was best discharging its responsibility to law and order by leaving the Provisional Government to take action.

HIDDEN GUNS.

LONDON, March 6.

In the House of Commons Mr. Austen Chamberlain announced that the German Government was laying a criminal prosecution against the "Reichsbank" firm of Berlin which was accused of having been secretly discovered.

Early archives of Vancouver.
The Agent-General of British Columbia was presented with the earliest original archives connected with the institution of representative government on Vancouver Island, British Columbia. They include the appointment under the Great Seal, dated July, 1849, of his Excellency Richard Blanshard, the first Governor, and Commander-in-Chief over the Island of Vancouver and its dependencies. Another book consists of many official documents on the colonisation of Vancouver's Island, Hudson Bay Company rule, and returns to addresses. The gentleman who has enriched the Government of British Columbia with this gift made only two stipulations: First, that the archives should be always on exhibition and readily accessible in the Legislative Library at Victoria, and, second, that his identity should not be revealed. The Agent-General strongly urged that the publication of the name of the donor might lead to many other persons in Great Britain in possession of autograph letters and other archives of the first colonisation of the island to follow his example and add to the historical treasures of the library. On these representations being made Sir Leicester Harmsworth finally consented to the publication of his name.

BRITAIN'S ONLY OIL WELL.

LONDON, March 6.

In the House of Commons, in answer to questions, Mr. Bridgeman said that the only oil producing well in Britain at present was at Hardstoft. The production for the six months ending December 31 was 78 tons. No oil had been sold since October last as it was difficult to dispose of small quantities of crude oil. Hitherto the evidence had been insufficient to form an opinion with regard to the commercial prospects of oil-boring in Britain.

TREASURY BOND ISSUES.

LONDON, March 6.

In the House of Commons, Sir Robert Horne announced that it was not intended to resume the issue of Treasury bonds, at a fixed price but it was proposed from March 17 to invite tenders for five per cent treasury bonds repayable on February 1, 1927.

LOURENÇO MARQUES, March 6.

A cyclone has practically wiped out Chide, a port between Beira and Quelimane. All buildings in the track of the storm were destroyed. Many launches and other craft were sunk or smashed. The loss of life is believed to total eight Europeans and 40 natives. The damage is estimated at $250,000.

OBITUARY.

MR. A. H. CREW

The death took place at the French Hospital, Causeway Bay, on Friday evening last, from pneumonia, following an operation for appendicitis, of Mr. A. H. Crew, solicitor of Messrs Hastings and Hastings. The deceased was doing his duty as a special constable on the previous Sunday, apparently in the best of health. He was taken ill on Monday and went to the hospital the same afternoon. On the following day he was successfully operated upon, and was making good progress when pneumonia set in, and he sank rapidly until death claimed him on Friday evening. The funeral took place on Saturday and was largely attended by members of the legal profession. Only 35 years of age, the deceased came out to Messrs Hastings about 11 years ago from Clifton, Bristol, and excepting for a period of absence during the war, had lived here all the time. The sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended to Mr. E. Davidson, solicitor of Messrs Hastings and Hastings (brother-in-law) and Mrs. Davidson (sister) in their bereavement.

MR. FRANK MAITLAND.

The Colony lost an old and respected resident by the death on Saturday afternoon last of Mr. Frank Maitland, head of the firm of Messrs Linstead and Davis, chartered accountant, and a director and auditor of several local firms. The deceased, who was 57 years of age at the time of his death, had lived in the Colony for the past 35 years. Besides being closely identified with the commercial life of the Colony, he was a leading figure in social circles. A keen sportsman, he was President of the Hongkong Cricket Club. Death which took place at his residence was due to an illness he contracted while home on furlough last year. He returned to the Colony some two months ago, and attended to his many duties as usual, though the effects of his illness were too plainly apparent. He was confined to his bed again early in February, and his death was not altogether unexpected. The cause of death was attributed to an affection of the kidney, and for a week before his death all hope of his recovery had been abandoned. Mr. Maitland married in 1901, Miss Alice Stopani, a sister of Mrs. A. G. Gordon, and of the brothers Stopani of Hongkong, by whom he is survived. Much sympathy is extended by a large circle of friends to the widow and other relatives in their bereavement.

SHANGHAI, March 6.

Several well-known residents have died, namely Mr. S. Chivers, police inspector, who joined the force 33 years ago, and had for ten years past been in the revenue department; Mr. Charles McWilliams, well-known in shipping circles in China, Japan and Manila; Mrs. Peter Marshall, who was a victim of scarlet fever to which her husband and the manager of the Eastern Telegraphs succumbed a few weeks ago.

ARMED ROBBERS.

YAUMATI WINE SHOP RAIDED.

The accountant of the Wing Fong wine shop, Reclamation Street, Yaumati, was sitting behind the counter about 9.35 last night when four men, three armed with revolvers, entered. Taking the shop-people by surprise, the robbers met with no resistance. Under threat of death, the managing partner of the shop opened the safe and the robbers helped themselves to $265 in cash. Five robbers armed with revolvers and knives boarded a boat at Sokowan, Lam's Island, yesterday afternoon. After driving the master and his crew into the hold, they ransacked the vessel, stealing clothing and money to the total value of $43.

BRITISH SHIPPING.

FOREIGN RESTRICTIONS.

FOREIGN OFFICE PROTEST.

Archibald Hurd writes in the Daily Telegraph—

In the report of the Departmental Committee on Shipping and Shipbuilding, which was published towards the end of the war, reference was made to the unfair treatment which British shipping received in the ports of some countries, Germany being a conspicuous culprit. It was hoped that, as result of the war, and particularly of the admitted services which the British mercantile marine rendered to the Allies, as well as to the United States, an unpleasant chapter in international relations had been definitely closed, and that no more would be heard of measures which aim at the freedom of the seas under peace conditions. For the phrase "freedom of the seas" is meaningless unless it connotes also freedom of the ports and freedom of contract. Those are the principles by which we in this country stand, and we go further than that and associate freedom in all matters of sea transport with freedom of trade, treating foreign goods exactly as we treat British goods. We do not even accord preferential treatment to our own coasting vessels. It is to be feared that those hopes must be abandoned. The war left behind it, as an unwelcome legacy, a highly sensitive and over-developed spirit of nationalism in some countries, and that is finding expression in a number of ways, which must prove not only injurious to smooth international trading, on which the economic salvation of the world depends, but must prove enormously expensive to those who put such machinery in motion. After all, if protective measures are applied to national shipping by any country, its taxpayers have to pay the bill in higher prices for what they buy and lower prices for what they sell, though at the same time foreigners who are penalised, suffer. The one involves the other inevitably.

Portugal, our ally for centuries, and conspicuously during the World War, furnishes a conspicuous example of wrong thinking and wrong acting, and it is not surprising that the Foreign Office should have lodged a protest against a course of action which is calculated not only to damage important British shipping interests, but to menace those pleasant political, commercial and social relations which have existed for so many years between the two countries; to their mutual advantage.

A PORTUGUESE DECREE.

A decree has been passed in Lisbon which is ostensibly intended to foster Portuguese shipping. This measure may be thus summarised:

1. Payment of port and pilotage charges by foreign shipping in sterling at par, and by native shipping in Portuguese currency, thus subjecting foreign steamship owners to charges much higher than their Portuguese competitors.
2. Reduction in Customs duties on the import and export of goods in Portuguese bottoms.
3. Preferential treatment to Portuguese shipowners with respect to taxes, licences, and other charges, hire or concession of ground, and clearing from ports on the day of sailing.
4. Tax on all passage tickets issued to foreign steamers trading to ports in Portuguese colonies, provided a service of steamers is maintained to these ports by Portuguese lines.
5. Tax on passage fares booked in Portugal for ports other than those in Portuguese colonies. (This clause applies also to Portuguese ships, but they would not be seriously affected, as Brazil is the only country outside Portuguese colonies to which Portuguese passenger ships at present trade.)

In a sense this is an international rather than a purely British matter, because all "foreign ships" are treated alike, and we may assume that there will be a good many protests. But we are peculiarly affected, because a score and more of British lines, trading to South Africa, South America, and the East, have been in the habit of putting into Portuguese ports en route to the great advantage, not perhaps of Portuguese shipowners, who are a very small body, but undoubtedly of the Portuguese community as a whole, for they have secured cheap sea transport. The latest decree was to have been put in force on Jan. 1. To take one clause only, the insistence on foreign shipping paying its dues in gold would mean that those shipowners would pay about fifty times as much as the Portuguese. That is merely an illustration of the extent to which this legislation would act in restraint of trade, at a time when it is suffering, goodness knows, from sufficient handicaps as a result of the war. And, after all, Portugal has a comparatively small volume of tonnage—less than 300,000 tons. On the other hand, she sends to the United Kingdom annually goods to the value of approximately £7,000,000, which represents something approaching one-fifth of her exports. To penalise British shipping is to penalise Portuguese trade.

PROPOSED U.S. RESTRICTIONS.

It is understood that the Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom is actively studying the position, and all wonder! For the action of Portugal may be regarded as symptomatic of the new nationalism which is endeavouring to find expression in other countries, as, for instance, in the United States. It will be remembered that what is known as the "Jones Shipping Act" was passed some time ago by Congress. It has remained more or less a dead letter. But soon, possibly within a few days, the President will state what is to be done to make its clauses for favouring American shipping effective. Mr. Albert Leasker, the chairman of the United States Shipping Board, in a statement published in the "Journal of Commerce Annual Review" (Liverpool), has stated that "the Jones Bill must be given life by the present Board." In his opinion this measure is "The Magna Charta of America on the seas," and so steps are to be taken under its shelter aimed to encourage American shipping and discourage foreign shipping, which means, to a great extent, British shipping. That is a very serious development, because human nature being what it is, retaliation is always the possible result of protection, whether it be applied to trade generally or shipping. We do not like such out-thrust business, and do not believe that in most cases it pays. That is why we are all for freedom, and particularly for the most generous interpretation of the phrase "the freedom of the seas."

But we are always prepared to learn, and we are temperamentally fighters. If the shipping of this country, which offers hospitality to foreign and British ships in its ports without discrimination, is to be treated unfairly in foreign ports we may be driven to act against the principles we have hitherto preached and practised. And that course might lead to a remarkable development, for we in these islands do not stand alone in the world. We are one of a group of nations, which, with dependencies, have a population of 440,000,000 people—four times as many people as are to be found even in the United States. Now, if restrictive measures are enforced against British shipping there is always the possibility—I put it no higher than that—that all these nations, united as the world saw during the Great War in every sort, might decide to co-operate in peace in fighting for the existence of British shipping. We should not adopt any such retaliatory policy willingly, and it would be bad for international trade, but it is a development that cannot be ignored if other countries are tempted to penalise any shipping except their own on the mistaken plea that they are thereby doing something which is patriotic. Of course such action is not really patriotic, because it is a boomerang. The seas are all one, and shipping is an international industry. All restraints on shipping are bad, and particularly bad for those who apply them.

In the case of American shipping any favour shown to that industry must be paid for by the farmer of Kansas, the miner of Arizona, and the industrial worker of Indiana. And in the end, the American mercantile marine would be a household plant instead of a healthy growth, and might even find itself penalised in the ports of the British Empire, as well as in other foreign ports. Mr. Leasker talks of the necessity of American exports being carried in American "bottoms," and much the same language is sometimes used in other countries. But American exports are other nations' imports, and these other nations are as much interested in their carriage at the cheapest possible rates as the American producers. If the cost of transport is so high as to affect the price to the buyer, why, the buyer usually has another market to which he can go, and if he has not he can usually create one. What British shipowners generally may think of this spread of nationalism to the sea I do not profess to say, but I can see most remarkable possibilities, and in the end British shipping and British trade would certainly not suffer.

Peels Off Corns Between Toes
The Great Corn Locomotor of the Age.
 Never Fails. Painless.
 A corn, mashed, squeezed and crushed all day long, in between two toes, you can try the desperate way and try to dig it out and fail. Or

"Two Drops of Gels-It—That's All!"
 You can try the sensible, peaceful, painless, easy way and use "Gels-It". It is easy for you with "Gels-It" to remove corns in places difficult to reach. "Gels-It" is a liquid—a wonderful painless formula—it has never been successfully imitated. It softens the corn, the corn dries immediately. Instead of digging out the corn, you peel it out painlessly. There is no sticky plaster that does not remain in position, no snags that irritate or rub the true flesh. Try it with the little glass rod in the cork of every "Gels-It" bottle. It does not hurt the true flesh. Try it with the comfortably and smile! It is a blessing never fails. Note—It is the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, cost but a trifle at all chemists and stores. Mfg. by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

Sole Distributors
MULLER-PHIPPS & HODGES, Ltd.,

DESPONDENCY DUE TO CONSTIPATION.
WOMEN often become nervous and despondent. When this happens to you, it is easily corrected by taking occasional doses of Chamberlain's Tablets. These tablets are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by all Chemists and Storekeepers.
